News Bulletin

Did you know?

In conformance to the EU guidelines for improved technical inspections, new emission test for NOx and particulate are on their way to be introduced in Europe. Studies about that are at an advanced stage in Nederland, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, Spain and France; road transport authorities are committed to improve periodical technical inspections to become capable of testing newer vehicles; Nederland and Germany have already announced the introduction of PN test in 2021; France has a commitment for NOx loaded test to be introduced in 2021 as well.

Assemblad, that has been designing and manufacturing own emission testers for the automotive aftermarket since the late 80's, is not standing idle. The Assemblad r&d dept. is at work on new emission testers for NOx and particulate for having the new products ready for the market when the demand will be there.

THE WHOLE ASSEMBLAD TEAM IS SINCERELY WISHING YOU
