The new Assemblad Price List released

The 2020-1 Assemblad Price List is just released and on distribution to the business Partners in these coming days, valid from March 1, 2020.

The new Price List includes some new products or versions and a number of product upgrades to make the offer more suitable for different product configurations.

The new RPM-119 Universal Modular Engine RPM Meter, for example, is an evolution of an existing product, the RPM-111, in a way that its modularity makes the offer more flexible and competitive while keeping all the advanced features of the previous model.

The new PG316 Play Detector for commercial vehicles is a good example of an evolution of existing technology to a state-of-the-art equipment featuring full compliance with the latest European standards for periodical technical inspections.

Talking about brake testers, the Plate Brake Tester for commercial vehicles has undergone a re-design where the F 3200-2P version has been added to represent the cheap solution for the problem.

Talking about prices, no major changes are reported apart from small adjustments here and there due to cost variations and currency fluctuations; offers basically remain the same than the year before.
