The new Price List to be released in August

The new Assemblad 2021 Price List is going to be released in the coming month of August.

No big news in terms of products as the Company, over the past twelve months, has been focusing more on the production process due to the gradual entry in operation of the new manufacturing facility. However, some product developments and accessories are now available such as the load simulator for truck roller brake tester.

Prices have been adjusted in consequence of some relevant changes in costs of raw material and components as an effect of the Covid-19 pandemic which, as everybody knows, has highly affected the supply chain worldwide.

Needless to say, our Distributors will be given time to handle the price changes in order to honour the existing quotations to customers.

Assemblad is not standing idle: some new products are under development even if not yet listed due to extended development time. Stay tuned, you'll hear from us again in the near future.
